Before each exam check that you and your invigilators are ready.

- Is the exam room set up correctly?
- Do you have the right question papers and candidate materials?
- Do you have the right attendance register?
- Do you have the right number of invigilators?
- Do you have a tested method of calling for assistance?
- Do your candidates know where they need to be and when?
- Do you know what to do when:
  - Your candidates enter the room?
  - Your candidates are seated?
  - A candidate asks a question during the exam?
  - The exam finishes?

Meet regularly with your invigilator team to talk through any issues and to make sure they are ready

Read the section on how to conduct exams in the Cambridge Handbook to make sure you feel confident
